MUNICIPAL NOMINATIONS

Candidates Named For Mayoralty
and Councillorship of The Town of Blairmore

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25TH

Is The Day Appointed For Election
Of Men To Handle Our
Municipal Affairs

Mr. Thos. Frayer, who has been appointed by the government to act as returning officer in the Blairmore town election, has issued notices calling for a meeting of the electors of the said town to be held at Brd's hall, on Wednesday next, from 10 a.m. until noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the office of mayor and six councillors. If there are only the necessary number of candidates nominated they will be declared elected by acclamation, the mayor to hold office until the end of 1912, the first three councillors nominated to hold office until the end of 1913 and the latter three to remain in office until the end of 1912. But if there are more than the required number of candidates nominated, an election will be held on Wednesday, November 1st and the three successful candidates for councillor, polling the highest number of votes will be allowed to hold office until the end of 1913, while the other three elected councillors and mayor will have to relinquish their honored positions on December 31st, 1912.

Up to going to press the fight has not become very hot and we would like to see an election by acclamation. Capt. W. A. Beebe, who is the largest property owner in the town, who is one of the oldest citizens and who has done considerable towards advancing the "Hub of the Pass," is considered by many of the intelligent electors to be a suitable person to occupy the position of mayor and he will be nominated as the first mayor of the town of Blairmore. Dame Rumor says that Arch. McLeod and H. E. Lyon, both of whom are well and favorably known in town, may be candidates for the mayoralty. The names which we selected a few days ago as probable candidates for councillors were: I. Duff, D. A. Sinclair, John McPhail, S. Berry, F. W. Doubt and J. G. Smith, but since we put our thinking cap on the following have been spoken of as desirable persons to occupy chairs in the new council: R. M. Brisco, L. P. Roberts, C. Hiscocks, Mike Koss, J. H. Farmer, E. C. Green, T. Ede, Charles Chestnut, H. J. Matheson, Frank Greco, E. Morino, A. A. Sparks, D. C. Drain, Isaac Longhead, J. F. Bradley and Robert Evans. We are sorry that it is impossible to elect all these worthy citizens whose names appear above, but we know that some are not aspiring to such honors and are willing to sit back and give the others a chance. It is up to the electors to glance over the above list of names carefully and use their best judgment in selecting worthy persons to conduct the important affairs of this promising town. If we have left out the names of any whom you would like to see become mayor or councillor, don't be offended but name your man. There's room on the slate for more. The man who is resolved to be something in the world should have nothing to fear, and when he little dreams of it, honors are gathering about his head and an influence goes out from him, which is exerted silently but surely for the good of thousands.

Another Substantial Building for Blairmore

E. Morino has a gang of masons and bricklayers at work on a store which is being built for Joseph Bado. The building is being erected on Victoria street between Seventh and Eighth avenues and will have an imposing effect. The building will be twenty-five feet wide, fifty-six long and will have a large basement. It will be occupied by Mr. Bado where he will carry on a general merchandise business. The building will be a credit to Blairmore and will correspond with many of the other creditable buildings which have recently been erected on our busy thoroughfare.

Bachelors Should be Taxed

The last regular meeting of the Guild held on Monday evening last took the form of a debate, "Resolved that Bachelors Should be Taxed." The affirmative was taken by F. E. Hinds and J. S. Murray while J. D. S. Barrett and R. M. Brisco took the negative side. F. E. Hinds was the first speaker and upheld his side in an interesting manner and showed how "useful" the married men were to the town in which they lived in particular and to the whole country in general. J. D. S. Barrett was the next speaker and defended the cause of bachelorhood. J. S. Murray, the second speaker for the affirmative, made several strong points in favor of bachelors being taxed and evidently made a strong favorable impression on the judges. R. M. Brisco, the second speaker in favor of the bachelors, made a great hit and presented several points which could not be refuted by the opposition speakers. F. E. Hinds was given five minutes for reply. The judges appointed were Rev. A. S. Tod, L. H. Putnam and J. G. Smith, who, after carefully considering the weighty arguments, gave their decision in favor of the affirmative side. On the 4th of December this same quartette will give a debate on "Resolved that Marriage is a Failure." The two married men will speak against wedded life and no doubt will give some valuable information.

A Coming Treat

Too much praise cannot be given Capt Beebe for engaging the Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette of Chicago to appear at Blairmore Opera House. This company is in its 20th year of success, and is acknowledged everywhere to be the most up-to-date musical company travelling. Everybody likes music and everybody enjoys a hearty laugh. A delightful blending of pure fun and fine music is one reason why the above company has won its way to the top notch of public esteem.

STRIKE STILL HOLDS OUT

Operators Holding Private Sessions
At The Rocky Mountain Sanatorium

NOTHING YET GIVEN OUT

More Cheerful Spirit is Entertained
And Termination of Negotiations Anxiously Awaited

Although the coal miners strike is still unsettled everything is pointing to an early agreement between the operators and miners, and peace is expected to be ushered in at almost any time.

The union officials have held several conferences during the past week and the men have given in on several points, which, it is sure, will make their case much more acceptable to the operators, but there are still some things which the men and their employees do not agree on, amongst them being the "checkoff" system, and "discrimination." The former may possibly be given to the men but we do not hold out the least hope that the men will be granted both. The latter, if not both, will no doubt be rejected by the operators, and their action in this regard is sure to receive the moral support of those who have any regard for law and order and who wish to see the domineering and anarchic spirit suppressed.

Up to going to press nothing definite can be learned outside of the fact that the operators held private sessions at the Rocky Mountains Sanatorium on Wednesday. However, it is evident that the men feel more cheerful; a more friendly spirit exists between the two contending parties; it is thought that arrangements are being finalized and that work will be resumed in a few days.

Oddfellows' Anniversary

Wednesday next will be the anniversary of the institution of a branch of the Independent Order of Oddfellows in Blairmore and the members of that body lodge will celebrate its birth by giving a social in their hall on Victoria Street. Invitations have been sent to Pincher Creek, Cowley and Coleman lodges, and a large response is expected from these places and a hearty invitation is accorded every Oddfellow and Rebekah who may be within reach and yet not a member of the local lodge. An impromptu program will be delivered so that all and everyone will have an opportunity of adding some trifle of amusement and entertainment thereto.

What is a man's "Megaphone?"

We overheard the expression a few nights ago that "Bob Evans was hit on the megaphone." We have often heard the term "megaphone" used, but it's the first time we've known a man's weapon sashel to be called a "megaphone."

"Yes - yes!"

A Sonnet Better After Nearly
Lungs It

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright by American Press
Association, Inc.

When Elizabeth Gray returned to Blairmore after a year spent with an uncle in a distant city, she found few changes in the quiet village. The morning after her arrival she lay contentedly in the slant roofed little room that had been her place since childhood and listened to the familiar music of hammer and saw from the distant shipyard.

Just then word came that her mother was in the kitchen and with a pricking of remorse at her mother's, Elizabeth arose and descended.

"I thought the waffles would arouse you, Bea," smiled her mother, as the girl entered the kitchen, flushed and sparkling. "Here in the first batch, take them in and begin your breakfast."

"Mother mine!" avoided Elizabeth, leading the way between the plump little woman into the dining room. "Sit right down and eat breakfast with dad. I shall cook waffles for both of you. Not a word!"

She smiled back at the two loving faces as she passed to and fro from kitchen to dining room ministering to their wants.

"We can't expect to keep her by our sides," sighed her mother. "This last year without her, I can't tell how dreary it will be for us, when someone takes her away."

"By 'nobody' I suppose you mean Norman," boomed her father, in deep voice. "I don't know as there's another man in Blairmore, who's got anything of the outside world, but I'll give my little Bea to that Norman Ryder. Perhaps she has met some fellow in the city who can't tell and Norman's only country brood. She probably met some fine dandified chaps in New York."

"I'd rather it would be Norman," insisted Mrs. Gray, with a little frightened flutter in her voice that went straight to Elizabeth's heart. "I couldn't bear to have him go away from the city. We might not see her from one year's end to the other."

Elizabeth hastened into the dining room with a plate of waffles, scorching to a crisp and her fair face flushed and agitated.

"I heard every word you said, and I'm confused between tears and laughter. 'Dear, I'm not going to marry anybody. I haven't seen any one in New York that could tempt me away from you.'"

Mr. Gray squeezed the little hand she had laid in his broad palm and looked quizzically at his daughter. "How about you, in Blairmore, Bea?" he asked.

"I don't want to go anywhere," flashed Elizabeth fearfully. "I want to stay right here all my life!"

That evening Norman Ryder drove over to see Elizabeth, and she was the contrivance of womanhood, that he who had always found favor in her eyes, now appeared to be awkward and provincial in the same eyes as compared to the shrewy youths she had met when visiting her uncle. Although he was taller and broader than any of the youths she had met, and handsome than any of the youths, almost the first words he uttered seemed to place him in a different class.

"So you knew I had returned, Norman," she asked, withdrawing her hands from his close grasp.

"Yes, yes!" he cried cheerfully, and it was that characteristic double affirmative uttered with a slight twinkle that drew a tinge of pink to her cheeks. "There was no word of discord between the expression that smacked strongly of the rustic; that, with the twang and the equally rustic accent, negative, 'No, no,' seemed to place Norman Ryder among the farmers and daymen who formed the community about Blairmore."

Elizabeth hated herself for shuddering every time Norman spoke with a twang, but she couldn't help it. She was angry with him for speaking so, her father did not, nor did any of their neighbors. It was carelessness on Norman's part, and it grated on her sensibilities.

"I thought perhaps you'd answer my letters," he said rather ruefully, as he drew his chair near to her. "But I expect you were pretty busy studying your music. I'm going to ask you to play some of your classical pieces for me by and by."

"Of course I will," said Elizabeth. "I didn't write to anybody here except father and mother, and they said," she paused with sudden confusion.

"I guess they said I came over here most every night while you were gone?" he grinned and looked at her. "I read your letters—and that was just getting me myself."

"I didn't trouble you I'd write," protested Elizabeth, flushing.

"No, no!" he offered quickly, exonerating her from blame. "But—"

"I said of thought you'd write to me of 'em, and so I kept at writing."

"It was glad to hear from you, and I suppose it was mean of me never to answer any of the letters. Now you don't mean to say that?"

"Yes, yes, and that was something!" he looked so happy, and so handsome that Elizabeth had to smile at him.

"Yes, yes," sobbed Elizabeth, and in that moment it was the sweetest touch of the world.

Housework Drudgery

Housework is drudgery for the weak woman. She brushes, dusts and scrubs, or is on her feet all day attending to the many details of the household, her back aching, her temples throbbing, nerves quivering under the stress of pain, possibly dizzy feelings. Sometimes rest in bed is not refreshing, because the poor tired nerves do not permit of refreshing sleep. The real need of weak, nervous women is satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

The "Favorite Prescription" cures the causes of women's weaknesses, heals inflammation of the reproductive organs, restores the system, and induces restful sleep.

Dr. Pierce is perfectly willing to let every one know what his "Favorite Prescription" contains, a complete list of ingredients on the bottle-wrapper. Do not let any unscrupulous druggist persuade you that his substitute of unknown composition is "just as good" in order that he may make a bigger profit. Just smile and shake your head! Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cures liver ills.

LEPROSY IN INDIA.

The "Unsubduable" Reach the Lowest Depths of Human Woe.

The "unsubduable" of India reside in little huts made of palm leaves or mud without windows, and with a single doorway, usually so small that even a child must stoop in order to enter it, containing absolutely no furniture, except a few rudely haked wooden pots and pans.

Generally there is no bedstead of any kind, the whole family sleeping huddled up on the bare dirt floor, which is commonly plastered with cow dung. A few rugs cover their persons, and these are worn night and day. Their financial condition precludes eating more than one meal a day, and this oftener than not is far from hunger appeasing and is seldom calculated to appeal to the palate. For their stretched, emaciated, they must work hard and long hours.

On account of the filthy condition in which their lives are rampant among them. According to the last census, eighty-eight out of every 100,000 people of the depressed classes are afflicted with leprosy. In the matter of education they are as deficient as they are in every other virtue. According to the report of the director general of public instruction of Bombay, barely five out of 1,000 of the pariah children of the presidency of school going age attend school.

In one word, these fifty-three odd millions of Hindus are not only socially but also intellectually, physically, financially and morally submerged—Saint Nihal Singh in Southern Workman.

FREEZES THE LUNGS.

When Intensely Cold Air Is Breathed In Through the Mouth.

"I asked an Alaskan pioneer who was crossing to his old home in Sweden what happened when the thermometer goes down to 80 and 80 degrees below zero," said a Seattle man. "At 80 degrees below," he said, "the exposed ears, hands or feet will freeze in going a quarter of a mile under ordinary circumstances, but the children go to and come from school as usual without suffering from the cold, provided their faces and hands are protected."

"They soon get used to it. But caution must be used to avoid drawing the cold air into the lungs, and it is dangerous to breathe through the mouth. More die from pneumonia brought on by freezing the lungs in that way than from any other form of exposure. Horses are protected by breathing bags, which extend down from the nose of the animal about eighteen inches and are open at the bottom. The breath which is exhaled warms the air in the bag before it is inhaled and draws into the lungs. And men wear a 'party' or headpiece which extends over the face and affords similar protection."

"In the Canadian districts the northwest mounted police regulate the treatment of horses on the freight wagons and stage lines in a most humane manner, so as to prevent them from suffering in this way."—Washington Herald.

Slavery in Scottish Mines.

Slavery in the very eye of the nineteenth century. Mr. Blackwood, in "The Good Old Times," draws a picture of the Scottish miners' unhappy lot in the past: "From about the year 1445 until 1775 the miners of Scotland were bought and sold with the soil. It is stated in old chronicles that bloodhounds were kept to trace them if they left their employment, and to aid in bringing them back. By statute law miners were bound to work all days in the year except Paschal and Yule, and if they did not work they were to be 'whipped in the bodies for the glory of God and for the good of their masters.' Not until 1775 was the first law passed in an attempt to better this state of things, but it was 1790 the law gave the working miner of Scotland his complete freedom."—London Chronicle.

The Word "Terse."

"Terse" is a word that has an understood meaning nowadays. Shadwell in the fourth act of "The Hamlets" (1871) put this question into the mouth of one of his characters: "Must I stay till by the strength of terse elated you have wet yourself into courage?" It is probably an allusion to what is still sometimes called "Dutch courage"—bravery inspired by alcohol. "Terse" was in those times imported in "terse," and "terse" may be a condensed form of that word; also "terse elated" may have been a drink that did its business without any circumlocution, like the terse speaker or writer.

Circular Plates.

All our plates are circular in shape. Now, a square or oval plate would be just as convenient. Is there any reason why plates should be of their present shape? It seems that if we dip into the far past we may discover the cause. Our remote ancestors ate their food on flat pieces of wood cut from a tree trunk. The tree trunk being cylindrical in shape, the earliest plates were, therefore roughly circular, and the shape has been used ever since.

The Real Liver Pill—A torpid liver means a disordered system, mental depression, lassitude and in the end, if care be not taken, a chronic state of debility. The very best medicine to arouse the liver to healthy action is Farnes's Vegetable Pills. They are composed of purely vegetable substances of careful selection and no other pills have their fine qualities. They do not gripe or pain and they are agreeable to the most sensitive stomach.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gardner came in from North Fork on Tuesday, and left on Wednesday for Elk river. Mr. Gardner and his brother Gerald own large and valuable iron deposits near Burnin and considerable work has been done on them this season.

Hungarian Miner Dies at Burnis

The sudden death of Joe Kujanik, a Hungarian miner took place at Burnis on Thursday morning last. Kujanik had been ailing for some time but his condition was not considered serious. About 8 a.m. he left his dwelling house and after being away for about an hour his friends became uneasy about him and a search ensued. At 9 a.m. his lifeless form was found in a small outhouse. Cornor Pinkney was called in to investigate but he did not consider an inquest necessary. Dr. Ross, who attended the unfortunate man during his illness and who was on the scene shortly after the death occurred, declared that death was due to tumor on the brain and to heart failure. Funeral took place at Passburg on Friday under the auspices of the United Mine Workers of America, of which society the deceased was a member. Kujanik was 38 years of age and came to Burnis about eight months ago.

Note of Thanks

To the Officials and Employees of the Western Bank and Land Office, Lethbridge.
I sincerely wish to thank the officials and men of this mine for their kindness shown to me in my sad bereavement. Such an action is worthy of all praise and I cannot express my gratitude for the manner in which you have shown your sympathy and esteem, which I shall long remember.
Yours sincerely,
MRS. P. BLAKE.

Happenings in and Around Cowley

McVoy Brothers started the framework of their new store this week and expect to have it completed by Nov. 30th.
A concert was held last week in the Cowley opera house, under the auspices of the Church of England, and proved a great success.
H. D. MacMillan, proprietor of the Cowley Hotel, has been ill for some time, and his illness necessitated his going to Lethbridge to consult a specialist. We hope for his speedy recovery.
W. G. Askey has added a well-stocked lumber yard to his business here, which is considered a valuable addition as the growing of the town fully warrants an immediate lumber supply.

Owing to recent bad weather threshing operations were considerably tied up, but last week work was resumed with a vigor, and from different points we learn that the crop is of a high average, some fully 30 bushels to the acre.

Josiah Kean's new store is being framed and soon will place its commanding appearance among the structures of business street. Work had been a while delayed through a cave-in which occurred when excavating for the basement foundation. Tweedy Ross are contractors and will rush work to completion.

You are not experimenting on yourself when you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a cold as that preparation has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds, and can always be depended upon. It is equally valuable for adults and children and may be given to young children with implicit confidence as it contains no harmful drug. Sold by all dealers.

The members of the "Western Star" Lodge, No. 311, Sons of England Benefit Society, are arranging for a concert to take place on the night of November 2nd. Committees have been formed and some of the amateur stage artists are practicing a comic sketch, which will please all who have the opportunity of attending. Refreshments will also be served.

The cattle yard here is being enlarged by the C.P.R. and a new set of cattle scales will be installed by the town. Cowley is considered the most central point for cattle shipments for the district, and now cattle have to be brought in from the Creek and other points for shipment here. In fact there are more cattle and horses raised in our immediate vicinity than in any other part of Southern Alberta.

F. M. Fowler and wife arrived here on Friday from High River, whither they had driven by horse and buggy about two months ago. The trip, which covers about 130 miles each way, was very interesting, both going and returning, and the experience of the drive was a novel one. Fine weather was met with the whole trip through and Mr. and Mrs. Fowler had the pleasure of passing through the richest of the Alberta grain belt, and witnessing the waving fields when going and the harvesting train following on their return journey. They continued on to their home in Passburg in the evening.

Biliousness is due to a disordered stomach. Chamberlain's Tablets are essentially a stomach medicine, it tends especially to act on that organ to cleanse it, strengthen it, tone and invigorate it, to regulate the liver and to banish biliousness positively and effectually. For sale by all dealers.

The general consensus of opinion is that Charlie is improving both as a speaker and as a master of his subject.

Don't trifle with a cold is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in case of a child. There is nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds in children. It is safe and sure. For sale by all druggists.

A somewhat serious accident occurred on Monday evening when a team of ponies, being driven by an Italian from Burnis, belted at the top of the station hill. The driver was thrown out and rather shaken up but escaped miraculously with only a gash over one eye and some bruises. He was taken to the hospital where his wounds were dressed by Dr. McKenzie and was removed to Burnis the next morning. The team after dashing through the town were stopped at the rear of the school-house without any further damage being done.

Coleman Notes

Misses N. McKenzie and M. R. O'Brien, of Blairmore, were in town on Sunday evening.

Several Blairmore dancers were in town on Friday evening last and joined the merry crowd at the opera house here on that night. They all enjoyed themselves and long for an early return of another such pleasant event.
